r—Revised.

Population: Full-blood Aborigines

The repeal of Section 127 of the Commonwealth Constitution in August 1967 requires that full-blood Aborigines be included in official figures of population.

Revisions based on the final results of the Census, 30 June 1966, have been made to 1961 Census and subsequent state population figures to provide for the inclusion of full-blood Aborigines.

As revisions to include full-blood Aborigines have been made to State totals only, some tables in this Abstract have been prepared exclusive of full-blood Aborigines, (Tables 1, 4 and 7), and others inclusive, (Tables 5, 6, 8 and 9).

No. 4—Population: Urban Centres, 1961 and 1966

Population clusters of 1,000 or more persons having a minimum density of 500 persons per square mile, and some areas of lower population and/or density (e.g. holiday areas, industrial areas) are designated "urban". The boundaries for 1961 have been redrawn according to the new criteria and the populations (partly estimated) are shown in this table for comparison with 1966 population. The intercensal increase or decrease between 1961 and 1966 may therefore reflect (i) population changes within the original 1961 boundaries, (ii) urban growth beyond the original boundaries, and (iii) the merging of areas.

(a) Prior to 30 June 1966 the Metropolitan Area of Adelaide comprised 21 municipalities. From 30 June 1966 new criteria based mainly on population density have been adopted for all capital cities; the boundary for Adelaide has been extended to embrace new areas, including Elizabeth, Salisbury and Tea Tree Gully.

(b) Some changes have been made in the definition of "other urban" at previous censuses. From 30 June 1966 it includes each population cluster of 1,000 or more persons which conforms to a minimum density standard.

(a) Births and deaths of full-blood Aborigines, where identified in registrations, have been excluded from natural increase calculations prior to 1 January 1967. From this date onwards, all vital events registered will be used in the reckoning of natural increase.

(b) All total increase figures have been revised to include full-blood Aborigines.

(c) Excess of births over deaths per 1,000 of mean population. The population used in the calculation of rates is exclusive or inclusive of full-blood Aborigines as appropriate.

(d) Rates for quarterly periods are calculated as equivalent annual rates.

(e) Rate of growth during the period expressed as a proportion (per cent) of the population at the beginning of the period.

Note : The statistics in this and the following table refer only to accidents to persons covered by the South Australian Workmen's Compensation Act ; they do not show the number of accidents which occurred during the period but are based on reports of claims closed during the period and of unclosed claims of three years duration at the end of the period. For the purpose of the table an industrial accident is "a compensated work injury causing death, or absence of the injured person from work for one week (seven calendar days or five working days) or more, excluding journey cases, cases occurring during a recess period, and disease cases". During the year ended 30 June 1967, insurers received a recorded 56,500 effective workmen's compensation claims and paid $5,393,000 in compensation.

(a) Compensation for wages lost, hospital and medical expenses, and lump sum settlements.

No. 61—Articles Produced in Factories

The following table gives details of production of a number of articles in South Australian factories.

Because of the necessity of concealing details for individual producers (the Census and Statistics Act requires all such information to be treated as strictly confidential) details concerning a number of major items—e.g. motor vehicles—have been withheld from publication.

Note: Building employment covers all contractors and sub-contractors and employees of contractors, sub-contractors, and government instrumentalities, who on the last working day in the month were actually engaged on the construction, alteration, repair, and maintenance of buildings, but excludes persons working on owner-built houses or for contractors or sub-contractors who undertake only alterations, additions, repairs, and maintenance. Persons "actually engaged" include those temporarily laid off because of weather. Some duplication may occur as a result of frequent movement between jobs or because some persons (such as electricians) may work on several jobs which are under construction simultaneously.

Trade

All statistics shown in Tables 80 to 88 relate to articles shipped direct between ports in South Australia and overseas countries. Overseas exports and imports via other States are NOT included.

Value of outside packages (containers etc.) is included with individual commodities for exports and with the "All other" group for imports.

Details of interstate movements of goods (particularly by road) are extremely difficult to obtain but a few major items which are available are shown in Table 79 below.
